In 1938, a pathbreaking public opinion survey was conducted in Akron, Ohio. Students will work as a team to analyze the original questionnaires and develop a comparable survey in Akron in 2021. Students in all majors and colleges are invited to bring their special knowledge to explore continuity and change in Akron over the last eighty-three years.

Course co-sponsored by the Bliss Institute of Applied Politics, the Cummings Center for the History of Psychology, and the University of Akron Archives.
