- course is graduate level (600+ catalog number)
- course is not an internship or externship

- cross listed courses can be counted toward the JD (EX: 9200/6200 same course) For purposes of this Joint Degree transfer form, you must take the graduate course number (EX: 6200 version of same course) in order to also satisfy the graduate program requirement. The credits in graduate department (EX: 6200) courses may not exceed the number set out above in order to be counted toward the JD.

- I understand that approval does not guarantee that the course(s) will be open, available or require prerequisites for which I may not qualify.
- I understand I will receive credit only for courses with a passing grade. Courses taken prior to law school attendance are not transferable. Courses will transfer to The University of Akron School of Law as grades of credit and will not be included in law grade point average (LGPA). Credit hours transferred are counted toward the 88 credit hours that are required for the JD degree, but will not be computed into the student's grade point average. The grades for such courses will not physically move from the graduate or undergraduate career totals into the law career totals. The transferred credit hours are monitored by the law school assistant dean. The transfer credits will be reflected on the Degree Progress Report (DPR) as completed JD credits.
