The Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP) recently provided higher education institutions with guidance stating it will be flexible with temporary adaptations relating to the “full course of study” requirement, but it is unclear how F-1/J-1 students’ immigration status could be impacted if students decide to complete their classes from abroad. Once we receive additional guidance from the SEVP regarding this matter, we will share this information with you. Please check your UA email regularly.

Please also be aware that if you are outside the U.S. longer than 5 months, you may need a new I-20 and you may need to pay the SEVIS fee again. You may be required to enroll for one academic year upon your return before you are eligible for Curricular Practical Training (CPT) and/or Optional Practical Training (OPT)

I have read the information above and understand that I must keep the International Center updated with my plans, if they change.
